

Personal strengths

- Able to pin point the main points when writing. I usually know what is worth writing and what is not.
- When editing, I can pin point most of my mistakes.
- Good at writing reports especially. As a science student, I write a lot of reports hence I am very familiar with how to write each section. I am also good at knowing what to write in what section.

Personal weakness

- I spend most of my time thinking about what to write than actually writing it.
- I also have problem figuring out how to write what I am thinking and have struggled with this for long. It looks good to me when I read it, but when I give it to someone else, they do not seem to get the message I was trying to convey. Hence I usually end up explaining it verbally.
- I use long sentences. I have problem cutting long sentences into short sentences.
- Few grammatical mistakes. In my language which is Tigrigna, we don't use much of "articles" hence I usually forget to use them in English. Hence my writing contains grammatical mistakes.
 - I also have problems using prepositions. I tend to use wrong prepositions in my sentences.